Crawford County Receives $13,912 For Marine Safety Program

LANSING—Crawford County has a total of $13,912.06 as a reimbursement from the Michigan Department of Natural Resources for its marine safety program conducted last year, according to State Senator Robert W. Davis (R-37th District).

Davis explained that Section 23 of Act 303, Public Acts of 1967, authorizes the DNR to reimburse several counties of the state in an amount equal to two-thirds of the authorized and approved expenditures of their marine safety programs, less any necessary prorations.

The warrants were mailed to the county treasurer earlier this month.

City to Let Bids; Hearing on Cable TV

The Grayling City Council will open bids for the construction of a $700,000 water system expansion here at their meeting on May 10th.

The work will include a 300,000-gallon tower and 2,500 additional feet of main. The present 100,000 capacity water tower will remain, according to City Manager, Jerry Morford.

The new construction will mostly bring the city up to codes for fire protection for the immediate future, Morford stated, and will also provide the base for considerably more residential, commercial and industrial expansion, he added.

Also at the May 10th meeting, bids are expected to be let for a comprehensive, $250,000 street improvement program, including blacktopping.

The council also set Monday, April 26th at 8:00 p.m., for a public hearing on a request for a franchise to install cable TV in the city.

Purpose of the hearing is to obtain public comment from interested individuals regarding their wishes for the possible franchise.

Gregory Kline who has requested the franchise, said that a proposed per-user fee of $6.50 for a 12-channel service including all major networks, PBS, channel 50 of Detroit and a public information channel would be available.

A Proclamation

In observance of April 26 - May 2, 1976

LIONS WHITE CANE WEEK

Whereas, there are 16,000 blind people in Michigan dependent upon a White Cane or a Leader Dog; and

Whereas, Governor William G. Milliken has proclaimed the week of April 26th through May 2nd, 1976 as Lions White Cane Week; and

Whereas, Lions Clubs seek to acquaint the public with its obligations to the people who use the Leader Dogs or White Canes, and to assure public recognition and observance of the law protecting persons using these symbols; and

Whereas, the Grayling Lions are interested in sight conservation work through the Leader Dog School, Welcome Homes for the Blind, and aid to the sight handicapped through examination and eyeglasses for the less fortunate, and other worthwhile service projects; and

Whereas the Lions of Grayling give freely of their time and effort in the sale of miniature white canes to raise funds for these worthwhile projects; therefore I, Derek E. McEvers, Mayor of the City of Grayling proclaim the week of April 26th through May 2nd, 1976 as Lions White Cane Week and urge all citizens to become familiar with the meaning and purpose of the White Cane and Leader Dogs, and to lend support to other worthwhile Lions projects.

Meeting on State Tax Study

[By B. J. Fowler, Grayling Twp. Supervisor]

The question of how many tax dollars property owners in Crawford County will be paying in 1976 is still being discussed. The County Board of Commissioners have scheduled a meeting with the State Tax Commission on April 21st. I hope many of the questions that have been asked concerning the State Tax Study will be answered. The County Commissioners have until May 3rd to set the County Equalized Value. My office will continue to work on this matter and hopefully we will be able to reach a mutually agreeable decision.

Saturday morning, April 10th I met with the Board of Directors of the AuSable Property Owners Association. I presented my views on the tax study including how I felt its acceptance would affect property taxes.

This presentation generated a lot of questions which resulted in a good discussion on the subject. County Commissioner Welch was also present. That afternoon I attended a meeting at the county building which was attended by representatives of the various property taxpayers organizations from across the state. State Senators Davis and Toepp were present. This group is working for property tax reform.

Another meeting has been called for April 20th at which time I hope the wording of a proposed petition is ready. This petition would be for an Amendment to the Constitution to provide for lower property tax limitations. The Senators pointed out such a petition drive is a tremendous undertaking as it will be necessary to complete the project by July in order to place the issue on the ballot this Fall.

Senators Toepp and Davis both commented on another petition presently being circulated which would limit State taxes to a specified percentage of personal income of Michigan. I believe we need some clarification on how the two petitions relate and if they are conflicting in their goals.

On another issue but still in the area of property tax, the Michigan Assessors Association is promoting a number of bills in the legislature. These bills propose some major changes in the Property Tax Law and particularly in the area of property tax administration. M.A.A. was able to have its reform package introduced on March 17th. I am a member of this association but can not support many of its ideas. At the present time I do not have copies of this proposed legislation so I will restrict my comment to simply that it bears watching. Earlier proposals made in 1975 would have moved property tax administration to a regional level. After I have had a chance to review the proposed legislation I will report further on my opinion of it.

Two other issues facing Grayling Township involving expenditure of tax dollars were discussed at the annual meeting on April 3rd. These issues were waste disposal and proposed change in city cemetery rates. Those present at the annual meeting expressed the opinion the township should adopt a user pay policy in these two areas. The city recently adopted a new rate schedule for the cemetery which reflects this township policy. In the area of solid waste the township is considering closing both the Down River and M-72 West green box sites and open a new site in the general area of the City of Grayling.

We are presently looking for property suitable for such an operation. This new site will be supported by a fee system probably comparable to the rate charged at the County Land Fill. As plans for this change progress I will be reporting to you by means of this media.

GRAYLING, MICHIGAN — THURSDAY, APRIL 22, 1976

From Our Corner...

At the present we have "Two Corners" going and cannot make up our mind whether to go with the first one — which is the nasty side — or try and finish this one and continue to reflect our personable side.

This decision was brought about following a conversation with a friend on Monday afternoon with whom we confide in now and then.

We do have to apologize to three persons following our corner a few weeks ago when we remarked on groups that are supported locally go elsewhere for their banquets.

We inadvertently left out The Frederic Inn, Auman's House of Catering and Riverside Tavern in Lovells, as places in Crawford County capable of handling such affairs. We are sorry for the omission.

A happy thought — we have to close our corner because of limited space due to advertising taking preference ...

The Bible Speaks

From Calvary Baptist Church

Michigan Gambling

Would you ever imagine that someday Detroit may become the Las Vegas of mid-America? House Bill 6078 would authorize the licensing of 4 gambling casinos in Detroit now with another 2 added in 1980. We can rest assured that if this progressive step toward open gambling is not defeated, within a few years the entire state of Michigan may be covered with gambling tables and slot machines. Lottery tickets and horse races were supported in Michigan last year with over 500 million dollars.

But doesn't gambling bring lots of money into the state treasury? Not really. Gamblers spent 7½ billion dollars in Nevada gambling last year, losing 1.1 billion, and the state of Nevada received only $2.5 million in revenue from this gambling. Now if Michigan could develop gambling to the same degree and receive the same cut, it would amount to less than 2% of the state's budget for next year.

The worst part of legalizing organized gambling will come with the increase of social problems and crime which accompany such activity. For example, did you know that Nevada leads Michigan in property crime, forcible rape, aggravated assault, burglary, larceny-theft and in the total crime index? Most of us know how bad Detroit is already, and yet Las Vegas leads Detroit in all of the above mentioned areas of crime. You may check these records from the 1975 Uniform Crime Reports, Federal Bureau of Investigation, U.S. Department of Justice.

Have you ever wondered why people who are more involved in gambling are also more involved in serious crimes against property and the lives of innocent persons? Gambling actually reveals the old nature in man. The person who gambles is basically selfish and greedy. He attempts to capture the fruits of the labors of others with a minimum of effort and a maximum of risk. By gambling he is rejecting the work ethic taught by God in the Bible. He is trying to take from others that which he has not earned, and intends to reward them nothing for it. If he loses in a game of chance, he feels victimized and is often motivated to gain by force that which he failed to get by chance. Since there can be no winners without proportionate losers, it must logically follow that if everyone lived by the golden rule there would never be any organized gambling.

The basic principle behind gambling presupposes a disregard if not a disrespect for the welfare and property of others. It shows disrespect for the work ethic of the Bible, "that if any would not work, neither should he eat." 2 Thess 3:10. Legalized gambling is one more step in the degeneration of our society. If you oppose more organized gambling in the state of Michigan, please write your representative in the Michigan House of Representatives in Lansing and voice your disapproval of House Bill 6078. Glen's Save-Share

"Helping to Build a Better Community Together"

Pictured at right is Helen Moon receiving a check from Carol Burkhardt on behalf of the R.S.V.P. Program of Grayling. Overall, Glen's Markets have given over $184,000 over a period of three years.

This is one example of a non-profit group making use of the Save-Share Program to help raise funds. There are many more groups using it too and there will be a picture of one each week in this paper.

Glen's wants everyone in Grayling to know about Save-Share and hopes more groups will use it to raise funds.

All a group has to do is register with the Store Manager or Asst. Manager and begin saving the green cash register tapes. Glen's will pay 1% of the total qualified amount of all tapes brought in to any registered group; and not just once but each time a group brings in $25.00 worth of slips or more.

The Story of the Revolutionary War in the Old Northwest

By Gordon G. Beld

Three of the four sons of Simon and Mary Girty were responsible for about three-fourths of the grief and gloom in backwoods cabins of Kentucky and the western sections of Virginia and Pennsylvania during the Revolutionary War. At least, that was the opinion of most American settlers along the western frontier.

Of the three notorious Girty brothers — Simon, James and George — who led many Indian expeditions out of the Old Northwest during the revolution, the most dreaded and detested was Simon. His role in the Indian raids, particularly his cruel treatment of victims, made his name synonymous with savagery.

The second son of Simon and Mary Girty, he was born near Harrisburg, Pennsylvania, in 1741. Ten years later the elder Girty was killed by an Indian named the Fish. A friend, John Turner, avenged his death by killing the Indian, and two years later he married Mary Girty.

In 1756 Turner and his family were at Fort Granville when it was captured by French and Indians. They were carried off by red men and Turner, recognized as killer of the Fish, was tortured while his stepsons, wife and infant son looked on and was finally killed. Members of the family were separated among various tribes but the oldest son, Thomas, soon escaped. Simon was adopted by the Senecas, James by the Shawnees, and George by the Delawares. They, as well as their mother and her son by Turner, lived with the Indians until 1759 when, as the result of a treaty, they were brought to Fort Pitt and released.

For several years Simon Girty was employed as an interpreter, and in 1774 he served as a scout with Simon Kenton in Dunmore's War. Many years later when Kenton was captured by Indians, Girty was instrumental in saving his life. Some contend that he saved many others, also, but the instances in which he is known to have shown mercy seem far outnumbered by his acts of cruelty.

For a time after the start of the revolution Girty, though discharged from his position as interpreter for the Continental Congress in 1776 because of ill behavior, appeared to sympathize with the colonists. However, early in 1778 he left Pittsburgh with several men, including Alexander McKee and Matthew Elliott, and joined the British. After stopping at the Delaware Indian town at the forks of the Muskingum, they continued on to the Shawnee villages on the Scioto River (near what is now Circleville, Ohio) where they found James Girty, who was trading with the Indians, and persuaded him to support the British.

When they reached Detroit, they were welcomed by Lt. Gov. Henry Hamilton and employed in the British Indian Department, serving as interpreters and leaders of Indians in action on behalf of Great Britain. For a time Simon was assigned to the Mingo tribe and James to the Shawnees, both in the Ohio wilderness. In May of 1779 George Girty, then a lieutenant in the Continental Army, deserted and also joined the British at Detroit. He, too, was assigned work among the Shawnees.

In October of that year Simon Girty and a band of Indians surprised a group of Americans who were transporting supplies up the Ohio River from New Orleans to Fort Pitt. Only 13 of the 70 Americans escaped the attack near present-day Cincinnati, and the incident helped to strengthen British — Indian relations.

In 1782 Girty was with Indians who captured Col. William Crawford after a battle near Upper Sandusky. A warrior tortured the American officer, he pleaded with Girty to end his misery by shooting him. According to one account, Girty responded by firing his gun loaded only with powder — not a ball — to further torment Crawford who, after hours of misery, finally died. Girty also led Indian assaults against Kentucky settlements that year.

After the revolution, Girty continued his efforts on behalf of the British in their dealings with the Wabash and Ohio tribes. He was present at the defeat of Gen. Arthur St. Clair's forces in 1791 and reportedly ordered an Indian to kill and scalp Gen. Richard Butler who had been wounded and was lying helplessly on the ground. When the British finally turned Detroit over to the Americans in 1796, Girty and his wife — the former Catharine Malott, a white captive of Indians whom he married in 1784 — crossed over to Canada and made their home at Amherstburg. Girty, who also aided the British during the War of 1812, died at Amherstburg in 1818. His brother George, who married a Delaware Indian woman, died just before the War of 1812 at a trading post on the Maumee River near what is now Fort Wayne, Indiana. James Girty married a Shawnee and before the War of 1812 moved to Gosfield, Canada.

Whew! Clean Politics Law Zapped

That big sigh of relief heard around the state recently came from the elements of Michigan which did not want the so-called clean politics law to become effective.

The Michigan Supreme Court obliged the anti-folks, deciding 5-2 that the omnibus clean politics law was illegal because it was too omnibus—that is, the law as adopted violated the Michigan constitution because it embraced more than one subject.

Indeed it did. It embraced so many subjects, as a matter of fact, that the collective sigh of relief at the law not becoming effective came from many, many quarters.

One sigh went up from lobbyists, who did not like the sorts of control on their activities and financial reporting the near-law required.

Another came from state public officials, who did not want to tell the public how much money they owed, or how many assets they had.

That sigh was echoed by local public officials—even down to the township planning commission level, for example—who did not want to air their financial linen. Many were on the verge of dropping out of public life instead.

Yet another sigh came from the citizenry in many places who now won't have to dig so deep to find folks willing to hold local public office.

Some of the bureaucrats sighed a relief, too; those were the ones in the elections business who didn't really know how they were going to make the clean politics law effective, and felt they had more important things to do, anyway.

Some sections of the media sighed in relief; they were concerned about a provision of the almost-law which set stiff penalties for reporting in the media what the candidates and public officials filed about certain of their activities and holdings.

Of course, not all parts of all these forces sighed in relief when the justices threw out the law. Some favored the law, some were unperturbed one way or the other.

But I would guess the sighs of relief far outnumbered the sighs of disappointment.

The Supreme Court averted all sorts of potential problems under the omnibus clean politics bill. Indeed, it seemed to me the reformers who backed the bill were trying to solve almost all the problems of all levels of office-holding in one fell swoop. It was a broad bill—unconstitutionally broad, as the court has now pointed out.

Certainly attempts will be taken to write much of the clean politics effort back into proper law. Action undoubtedly will not be in time for the 1976 election, however.

Backers of the law have commented that the heat is off now, with Watergate fading into the past as time goes on, so passing broad political reform may not be so easy.

That's probably true; the truth of this comment indicates the problems of over reaction to a crisis situation, which are forever present in the lawmaking process.

A chronic complaint in the lawmaking process is that under our system, you cannot get action until a crisis is at hand; in other words, reason and study are not the foundations of our laws nearly so much as are danger and crisis.

One problem with this crisis approach is that too often, government acts in haste while the public repents in leisure, to paraphrase the adage.

There's little doubt in my mind that the clean politics effort was a primary example of the reform element acting in haste in the reaction to Watergate. The court focusing on the shaky constitutional ground of the effort has saved us from repenting at leisure.

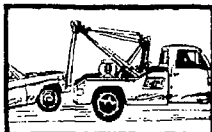

Politics certainly needs some reforms. Now we have the chance to call on reason and sense, as well as fervor and zeal, in the formula for reform.

When's the last time you looked under your car? Or asked your service man to? Next time you change oil, and your car's on the rack, keep it up. At least long enough to check your exhaust system, shocks, wheel seals and the undercarriage of your car. Most of the time you can spot trouble before it becomes a major repair bill.

And, if your service dealer displays the NAPA sign, you can be sure that any needed replacement parts are guaranteed to meet or exceed all manufacturers' warranties. NAPA with a stock of over 90,000 part numbers is the brand you can trust.

Next time, to avoid costly upkeep, remember . . . keep it up. With genuine NAPA parts and service.

Save the Fruit Fly

Too many people were not sanguine about Sanguine, so the name was changed to Seafarer. And if that doesn't work, the Pentagon can always threaten to dismantle the Mackinac Bridge and use the steel to build ricochet rockets that can be aimed at Angola but will explode in Havana.

Seafarer, formerly Sanguine, is the submarine communications system which the Navy wants to bury somewhere, maybe under 2,700 square miles of Michigan's Upper Peninsula. Seafarer is needed to prevent any rotten Russian from enjoying the ashes of New Jersey.

The problem is simple. If the Russian's push the big button first, they might wipe out the entire U. S. before we could push back. Our only survivors would be our submarines but they'd be so far underwater they wouldn't know what the Russians had done. The question is how to notify the subs so they can push their nuclear buttons and destroy Russia. Thus 2 nations would be razed for urban renewal. Planned Parenthood chapters could cancel all meetings, and the world would be safe for Democracy.

The Seafarer system could alert our subs in time to assure what every peaceful nation wants — total revenge. But the Pentagon is having trouble with citizens who don't want the Seafarer antenna grid buried in their neighborhood. Tests have shown that Seafarer waves cause mutations in fruit flies. No humane person wants hunchbacked fruit flies buzzing around his bananas.

Wisconsin refused the honor several years ago. When the underground network was then suggested for the Upper Peninsula, there was great protest from citizens who didn't want to scar their ecology and endanger their fruit flies. That was back in 1974 when the system was called "Sanguine" which is a tricky word.

One dictionary definition is that sanguine means to be "eagerly optimistic; cheerful." But it also means "the color of blood."

Obviously, some Pentagon admiral stumbled across a dictionary somewhere, probably while on leave. He decided people weren't being optimistic and cheerful about Operation Sanguine because of its bloody connotation. It sounded like a movie starring Vincent Price. When the chicken civilians heard the word "Sanguine" they didn't become cheerful about their nation's nuclear capability, they became doleful about their fruit flies' capability to stand up straight.

So the admiral ordered the name changed to Seafarer which according to the same dictionary simply means "a sailor or mariner." After all, the push-the-button message would be beamed to submarines — so why shouldn't it be carried by a sailor? And what decent American could be disturbed by anything named Seafarer? The word has a great swashbuckle to it. Errol Flynn instead of Vincent Price.

Also, Seafarer starts with S, the same as Sanguine, so it wasn't necessary to change the gold initial engraved on the adding machines of the Pentagon body counters who will have important work to do once Seafarer sends the signal. These counters have been unhappily idle since the U.S. pulled out of Vietnam, and it would be a shame to delay their return to action further simply to change the engraving on their equipment. These past few years have been tough on the body counters whose only relief from tedium is on holiday weekends when the Pentagon loans them to the Auto Club.

But even with the name change, there are still some ecology nuts and fruit-fly bleeding hearts who don't want Seafarer buried in the Upper Peninsula. So, in a totally unrelated action, of course, the Pentagon has announced that one Air Force base in the U.P. may be closed because of budget cuts. This would cost the area thousands of jobs.

But the Pentagon further revealed that the U.P.'s 2nd Air Force base would likely serve as the nerve center for Seafarer, should it be buried there. Of course, if Seafarer is banned...

You don't have to be a submarine to get the message. If I were a fruit fly living in the Upper Peninsula, I'd start packing.

Here he stands . . . "The Minute Man" of Lexington, Massachusetts.

A photographer with imagination chose the background of fireworks.

But that April night when Paul Revere alerted the Minute Men, there were fireworks of a different kind. The bravery that night was not in bronze!

It is no accident that this historical encounter occurred in the same colony which the pilgrim fathers founded in their quest for religious liberty. The very kernel of American freedom sprung from the right to believe in God and to worship Him — each in his own way. The heritage of the Minute Men was a courage born in conscience that defied any invasion of liberty — religious or political!

Two centuries ago patriots established with their blood a nation of conscience, of faith. Celebrate that with your heart and soul . . . it cannot be preserved in bronze.

CONSUMER LOANS

When it comes to Consumer Loans, there's more than one good reason to see First Savings. What's a good reason you ask? Well here's just a few of the good reasons First Savings can lend for:

Furniture - Refrigerator - Freezer - Dishwasher - Range - New Car - Used Car - New Truck - Used Truck - Motorcycle - Snowmobile - Boat - Camper - Trailer - Mobile Home - Motor - Garden Tractor - Riding Lawn Mower - Farm Equipment - Pool Table - Vacations - Special Assessments - College Education - Dental Braces - Medical Expenses -

This list is virtually endless ... and First Savings can lend up to $5,000 for a consumer loan. Sometimes even more. So why wait? Enjoy those major purchases now, while you pay for them. When you need someone to help, remember us.

HOME IMPROVEMENT LOANS

If you're thinking about remodeling the kitchen, adding an extra bedroom, or even landscaping the backyard, then First Savings would like to work with you to increase the enjoyment and add to the value of your present home. With a home improvement loan, we can lend you the money necessary to enlarge, improve, or modernize your home.

To apply for a home improvement loan, simply get a cost estimate from your contractor for the work you want done. Or, if you're planning to do the job yourself, get an estimate from a building materials dealer. Then, visit the most convenient First Savings office and complete the necessary application. One of our professional loan counselors will help you set up a repayment plan with monthly installments to fit your budget, at rates you can afford.

If lack of money is holding up the improvements you want to make on your home, get things moving fast with a home improvement loan from First Savings.

MORTGAGE LOANS

If it's a mortgage loan you need, First Savings' loan specialists are ready to assist you in your financing. We offer a wide variety of mortgage programs, suited to your individual circumstances.

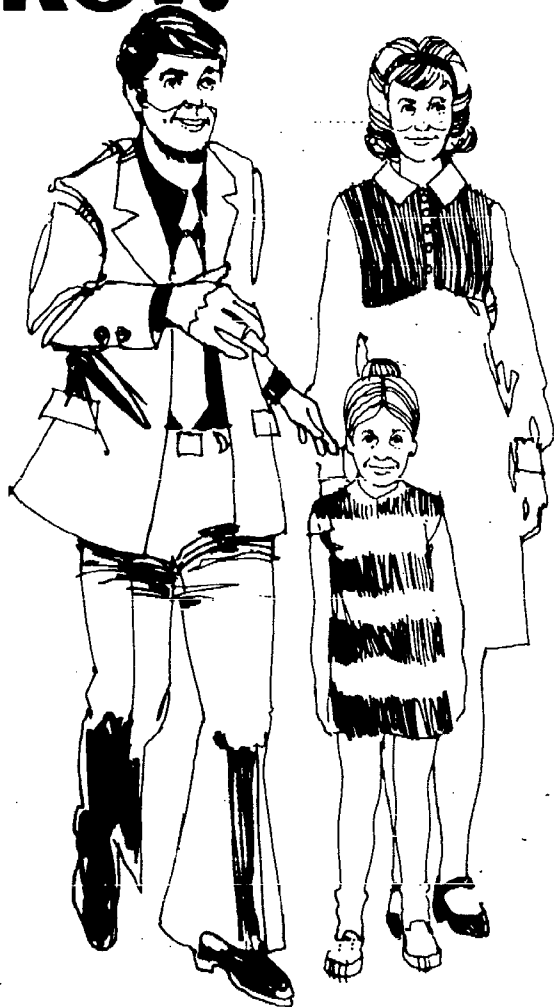

Conventional Loans

This is the most common type of mortgage loan. In most cases, it allows you to purchase a home with a down payment of 20 per cent of the purchase price. The conventional mortgage, made directly to you, requires no mortgage insurance and generally carries the most desirable rate of interest. 90 per cent and 95 per cent Insured Loans

First Savings realizes that your individual circumstances may be such that you cannot come up with the 20 per cent down payment necessary for a conventional loan. If you are unable to meet this amount, we also offer mortgage loans which will let you buy that dream home with as little as 5 per cent or 10 per cent down.

your week ahead

BY DR. A.W. DAMIS

Forecast Period: April 25 to May 1, 1976

It's not the time to toss money and love about—like a drunken sailor in Paris. It's mischief on the march for many under your sign.

Good news, according to your chart, comes as a fresh flowing breeze. And too, this cosmic cycle will surface your better traits; things should go well.

At this phase in your life, self pity will be a big thing. Incidentally, you'll receive help from an unexpected source. Actually, you'll get more help than you think.

"Too many irons on the fire" is indicated by prevailing stellar patterns. Keep a spot open in your schedule for a new and interesting project.

This week, it would be a good idea to yield to a bad situation—in order to survive. In other words, settle for half—forget the whole!

It's going to be up to you, of course. You're entering a period that calls for expanding your project. So, it's open the throttle and full speed ahead.

What's the best thing that could happen? A new face or an old friend to brighten you with a spark of enthusiasm. So, look for someone to boost your morale.

Listen well! An associate, with whom you've become bored, can put your hand on the lever—"pull, and you'll hit the jackpot!"

This coming week will be favorable for contacting the general public. So, if you are involved in sales or similar occupation—look for good things!

This cosmic cycle, you are entering an emotionally low mental phase. So, it's likely that you'll over magnify any adverse news connected with the other sex.

It's true, you're putting much, much too much effort into your job, or project. Really, it's time for you to let up and take off the pressure.

Quitting your job or project, at this time, is out of the question. Nonetheless, the thought of "throwing up your hands" will haunt you for the next few days.

Talks Too Much

Some radio announcers have been described as men who talk until you have a headache—then try to sell you something to relieve it.

Marriage Announced

Mr. and Mrs. Richard Lippard wish to announce the marriage of her daughter and the late Henry Feldhauser, Wendy Ann, to Michael John Kucharek, son of Mr. and Mrs. John Kucharek of Grayling. The Honorable Emil Kraus solemnized their vows on March 27th at the home of the groom's parents.

Attending the couple were Rhea Neilson as matron of honor and Alfred Feldhauser, the bride's brother, as best man.

The couple are making their home at Pine Knoll.
